TERRIBLE ACCIDENT ON C.P.R. MAIN LINE.

Engineer Adam Halliday Instantly Killed.

Brother-in-law of W. E. Lord of This City

W. E. Lord received a telegram Thursday afternoon of a most horrible accident on the C.P.R., whereby Adam Halliday, his brother-in-law, who was engineer of the train, was instantly killed, and fireman Andrew Matthews was so badly injured he died shortly afterwards. A brakeman was also severely injured.

The accident occurred Thursday afternoon at a point three-quarters of a mile west of Moherty station, when the boiler of an oil burning locomotive, number 3851, exploded. At the time the accident occurred the locomotive which had just been hauled in the Ogden shops at Calgary was engaged in pulling the heavy freight train up the grade. The boiler and cab were blown entirely clear of the right of way, breaking all the telegraph wires. The frame and driving wheels of the engine were left on the rails. The injured were rushed to the Golden hospital within a short time after the accident.

Engineer Halliday had been working in the field yard and on the work train all summer, and this was his first trip on the main line this season. He leaves a wife and two small children at home.

Mr. Lord left at once for the scene of the accident, and returned to Watskiwin with the body Friday night, where the mother of deceased resides. The funeral took place on Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Lord going up to Watskiwin in their car to pay their last respects to the departed. The sorrowing husband has the deep sympathy of a large circle of friends.

Sunday Band Concert

The Red Deer Citizens' Band gave the seventh concert in the series in Gaetz Park on Sunday afternoon before a large audience. After the strenuous three days' work at the Fair, the boys were in the best of shape for playing. Reg. Taylor, solo cornetist, being unable to play on account of sore lips. A number of the other players were suffering from the same complaint, but in a minor degree (or key). The remaining three concerts will be played in September, and an effort will be made to have an entire change of programme. The band will take a rest this week.

You will enjoy your holiday much better in one of those nice, cool lounge shirts, with soft collar, you get at Brown's Toggery.

Burglary at Davis' Gunsmith Shop

About an hour after midnight of Thursday, last week, two burglars made an unsuccessful attempt to enter the premises of W. R. Davis, the gunsmith, on Gaetz Ave. Mr. Davis, who had been attending his exhibit all day at the fair grounds, returned home late at night and retired to bed, feeling the want of rest, and immediately fell asleep. Mrs. Davis, sleeping with the baby in another part of the room, was the first to have a suspicion of someone being about, and she got out of bed to look through the window. She saw two men on the platform in front of the building, and she was in the act of turning round to call her husband, when the window was smashed in, waking up Mr. Davis, who immediately jumped out of bed, and seeing his wife standing by the window, thought for the moment it was some one else, and pointing his left hand at her, and reaching round with his right for his revolver, said "Stand still; I have you covered!" Mrs. Davis said "It's me," whereupon someone's breaking in, and the sound of their voices had evidently reached the ears of the burglars, who stepped away from the window, walking across Gaetz Ave. to the vacant land. Mr. Davis threw up the window and fired two shots in the air to call the attention of the police, and which incidentally scared the intruders, who made off past the building of A. R. Boyle, and were soon out of sight. On investigation it was found that the intruders had smashed the big window of the store with a small window frame and had reached in and stolen two six shooters, one a Colt's .41, the other a Smith & Weston .44, and a number of shells. The thieves had a very narrow escape from death, as Davis is a dead shot, and he could easily have killed them before they escaped, only he was not aware he had been robbed at that time, and he felt reluctant to shoot at the intruders under the circumstances. The next time he will not deal so gently with them.

Representatives from Calgary, Red Deer, Lethbridge, Edmonton, Fort Saskatchewan, Lloydminster and Vermilion will be present. SIFTON DENIES LATEST STORY ABOUT A. & G.W.

C.N.R. Will Not Solve Tangle by Taking Over Troublesome Property

Ottawa, Aug. 15.—The story sent out from Ottawa that the government of Alberta had made arrangements whereby the Canadian Northern railway would take over the famous Alberta and Great Waterways railway, is given an absolute denial by Hon. A. L. Sifton, premier of Alberta, who is at the Château Laurier.

"It is the first I have heard of such a thing," said Mr. Sifton, smiling languidly.

"I think that dispatch was written in the office," he continued, when shown a clipping from a Montreal paper, which contained an article under an Ottawa date line on the subject of the interrogation.

"My visit to Ottawa is not of an official character, it's purely personal."

"The crops? Oh, yes, they look very good, and I anticipate a splendid yield." Here Mr. Sifton turned over the leaf of the latest novel he was reading, as if to recover from his lost place and to intimate that the interview might be over.

"What do you think, Mr. Sifton, will be the effect of the Democratic tariff bill upon Canada?"

Well, I would rather remain silent upon that question. It looks like federal politics. I won't touch upon it.

Premier Sifton is en route to visit his brother, Hon. Clifford Sifton, at Assiniboine, before, near Brookville, where he will visit for a short time before he returns to the west. He emphasized that there is nothing official in his visit to Ottawa.

Robertson v. Reid

Before Justice Wallace, on Monday, August 25th, David Robertson, of Evans district, sued W. Reid, of Red Deer, for damages to furniture, wagon, etc., caused through Reid's auto scaring his horses. This case was previously before Justice Wallace, but was thrown out on account of it being brought up under the Motor Vehicles Act. Robertson's case was that the defendant, Reid, was driving at a high pace, and although he put his hand as if to warn that his team was scared, the defendant continued to drive past him at a high rate of speed, causing his horses to break away from his control, damaging the wagon, harness and furniture that he was conveying.

Reid stated that he was returning from Evans with a land party, when he saw Robertson approaching with his team, and as he appeared to be having difficulty with them, Reid showed up his car and drove up to the team, to the effect that neither team nor horse was injured, and Reid's car, the horses making off through the brush. Reid considered that had Robertson not let go of the lines, the team would not have run away. Robertson and Frew, who was driving behind with another wagon, said that Reid did not stop until he had passed the scaring car, and that M. A. Munro, who was in the car with him, in giving evidence strongly denied going past until after the team had got away. Both parties were very emphatic as to their evidence being correct, and Justice Wallace said that as everything was so contradictory, he should have to take time to consider his decision, and would reserve it until 10:30, Tuesday morning.

John Quize was the solicitor for Robertson, the plaintiff, and A. H. Russell for Reid.

Justice Wallace handed out his decision on Tuesday morning, in which he gave judgment for the prosecution, Reid having to pay the costs of the case. There was no fine.

Reeve Kent reported having obtained legal advice regarding the claims of Mr. A. Clutterbuck for $25.00 as one month's salary in lieu of notice and his account for police work, to the effect that neither item should be paid. It was thought that Mr. Clutterbuck was not entitled to the month's notice, as he had inserted the advertisement calling for tenders for the position and was himself an applicant. As for the police work, the Council was not authorized to pay any sum for this work by any means in the minutes of Council. It was moved by Councillor Kent, seconded by Councillor Rich, that the Council accept the solicitor's advice, and the secretary advise Mr. Clutterbuck accordingly.

The following accounts for road drudging were ordered paid: E. O. Wagner, $7.50; J. H. Pratt, $3.00.

The next regular meeting of Council will be held on Tuesday evening, the 2nd of September.

North Red Deer Council

The adjourned meeting of the Council was held on Saturday evening, the 23rd inst., with all the members present, and Reeve Kent in the chair.

Regarding Our Exhibition

Red Deer's record-breaking exhibition is over, and with it comes a great responsibility. It was a pronounced success, probably the greatest that has ever attended a fair held in a city the size of Red Deer. Everything about it was a record breaker. The exhibits equalled in some respects the larger cities; this was particularly noticeable in stock, and everything was carried out with remarkable foresight and precision. There was an attendance of eight thousand or more people on the grounds during the fair, and it is estimated the receipts will pay all indebtedness. We have the men, we have the brains, and we have the exhibits, but can we get the money?

Although temporary quarters were hastily erected, and every nerve strained to provide accommodation, there was not an inch of room to spare, and a car of poultry was turned back because we had no accommodation. The grand stands held about nine hundred persons when packed, yet if they had been double the size, they would have been over-crowded. The business houses, and implement men were not encouraged to exhibit because there was no room. The citizens took hold and assisted Premier W. E. Lord and his able directors until the exhibition surpassed the most sanguine expectations, but can we keep up the pace? Calgary, for instance, draws thousands of people from all over Canada, tens of thousands of people from other parts of the province, and tens of thousands from their own city. Taking all this into consideration, can we still continue to increase and double our fair for next year? It can be done, we believe, if the citizens continue to work in harmony as they have done the past two years. Not only has it been an eye-opener to many visitors from outside points, but even many citizens were agreeably surprised at our splendid success. It has a tendency to encourage the beautifying of our already beautiful city by brighter homes, more flowers, richer lawns, choice shrubbery and stately trees, making our city the most attractive and beautiful residential place to live in the west. It is worth trying for.

Then again we might suggest an improvement in some of the attractions for another year. For instance, the cowboys put up a good stand; but why not give them a good race or two in all their trappings? This is a rural section of the province, and we depend largely on our settlers to make it a success. There are a lot of clever cow panders in the district who could put up some good events. Give farm boys under sixteen, who own their own ponies, a race or two for good money. They would like it; and a few other events of that nature, such as an Indian race. The officers and judges and stewards, and all connected with the fair, are to be congratulated, and we ask them to take as their slogan a bigger, a brighter and a better fair for 1914.

Police Court

Mrs. Giggings was charged with stealing $10.00, and allowed out on bail in her own surety of $20.00, which she forfeited.

Mrs. Camp and a negro were charged with immoral conduct on the premises of York Toy and Plead guilty. They were fined $25.00 each.

York Toy, of the Capital Restaurant, was proved guilty of allowing his premises to be used for immoral purposes and was fined $50.00.

On Saturday afternoon, before Justices Wallace and Carswell, Yu Ching, proprietor of the English Kitchen restaurant, was fined $100 and costs for selling opium to a negro, Mrs. Giggings. Mrs. Giggings had been a user of the weed, but had reformed, and knew the way to buy from these Chinamen. She was given some opium, but on handing it to Constable Reid, the Chinaman tried to snatch it away. The constable had to slap him to make him leave go. The woman hated opium dens and desired to close them up. The prisoner admitted carrying the ashes of his pipe and giving them to her. The opium was produced in court and sworn to by two witnesses. The prisoner would only speak through an interpreter, although he does business at other times without help. It would almost be impossible for the local police to catch these opium fiends; they are too cute. There was not the slightest doubt in the minds of the Justices that there was opium being used in the city and that it was a public nuisance. The highest fine is $500 or six months. They fined the prisoner $100, and warned him if he came up again on the same offence he would be punished to the full extent of the law. Constable Reid proved the case. W. E. Payne appeared for the Crown, and Mr. Smith, of Moore & Scott, appeared for the prisoner.

$30,000 Worth of Stock in Big Shipment

H. Jamieson has been in the city for the past week attending the fair, and incidentally selling stock. Mr. Jamieson has received from the Government a shipment of 100 head of mixed grade yearlings. They are a fine bunch, and Mr. Jamieson has already sold 300 head from Calgary. The cattle are at present being handled at Red Deer by H. Jamieson, and at Delburne by James Jamieson. Another consignment of six cars is on the way from the coast.

Valley Lumber Co.'s Mill Burned

Word was received in the city that the new mill of the Valley Lumber Company, situated near Leslieville, was destroyed by fire on Saturday last.

The fire was a most remarkable one in that the mill was running at the time, and all hands at work. The fire took place near the engine room, and so rapid was the spread of the flames that the engine was unable to stop the machinery, and even the men in the mill were unable to save their tools and had to run to save their lives. The fire was more in the nature of an explosion of gas than anything else so rapid was the spread of the flames. The mill was burning out about 30,000 feet of lumber a day, and had only a few things in nice shape for a good season's run when the fire occurred. The company value the mill at $12,000. The company is composed of W. H. Cushing, E. Michener, P. Pettipiece and K. Myers, who have the sympathy of all in their loss.

Labor Day Picnic

Arrangements are about complete for the grand picnic under the auspices of the Loyal Orange Lodge of Red Deer on Monday next, Labor Day, at Watskiwin Park and Exhibition Grounds. Dinner will be served at one o'clock sharp, for which there will be a charge of 35c. There will be patriotic exercises by E. Michener, R. H. Welliver and other prominent speakers. There will be a baseball game between Pinhold and Red Deer, foot races and other athletic events. The Citizens' Band will be present during the afternoon, and will meet at twelve o'clock and proceed to the park for dinner. There will also be a contest for the most popular lady in Red Deer. Attend the picnic, and enjoy a day's sport. It will do you good.

Wedding gifts purchased at Snell's are always appreciated.

Independent Farmers in the Bawlf District

(Bawlf Sun)

The farmers in this district will be able to smile in the face of adversity in a very short time at the rate they are becoming independent. We mean independent in producing a living and a little surplus year by year, by carefully planned mixed farming. The exclusive grain raiser who sees his grain battered into the ground by hail realizes at once the folly of putting all his eggs in one basket, even though his crop may be fully covered by hail insurance.

In the state of Illinois, where wheat, where land is worth $200 or more per acre, the people have found that the only way to make a sure thing out of the soil is mixed farming and dairying—and in the state of Illinois the land is no more productive than right here in Alberta, where land is only $20 to $30 an acre, but in Illinois the people have been compelled to rely on something more dependable than grain raising and have become independently rich by studying conditions and abandoning the get-rich-quick grain raising craze for a more certain though perhaps slower method of dairying, gardening and carefully planned diversified farming.

In fact, the farmer of today, in this portion of Sunny Alberta, is becoming a business man, and is not leaving it to the other fellow to do all the figuring while the farmer does all the work.

Alderman William Piper

At the nomination to fill the vacancy on the Council, caused by the resignation of Alderman Murrin, yesterday, the name of William Piper was the only one brought forward, and he was duly declared elected to the City Council by acclamation.

Jogging Laziness Into Activity

The merchant whose business lags in the summer has himself to thank.

To slacken the selling pace in the hot season—to lessen advertising activity—indicates a resignation which has no place in modern business.

If we think we cannot keep our business booming in summer time, we surely will not.

What a jolt it must have been to the fur trade, when the first mid-summer fur advertisement was run in a daily paper! Now many fur stores are following the example of that progressive fur man who dared to believe that fur sales need not go down as the mercury goes up.

Energy, linked with Advertising, has turned the month of January into the biggest selling season for white goods. Advertisements of a high stimulative power, combined with a disregard of "seasons," have opened up automobile selling two months earlier than was once thought possible. Advertising has started Christmas shopping early in October instead of the middle of December.

Advertising rises superior to seasons and thermometers. The right kind of Advertising strikes a responsive cord in human nature—and human nature is the same in August as in December.

RED DEER A HEALTHY CITY.

The report of the Medical Health Officer to the last Council meeting was found for thought for those who look into statistics. He reported that there had not been a single case of contagious or infectious disease in the city of Red Deer during the past two months.

This statement was in itself an indication that we were a healthy community.

But on looking into the question a little closer, and consulting with H. G. Stone, we were surprised at the small number of deaths in Red Deer. Since January 1st only eight deaths have taken place within the limits of Red Deer city's borders, five of these were mature persons and three children. Of the three children, one died in April from tuberculosis, and in June two died, ten and seven months old, the first from throat trouble and the other from an operation. Not a single child has died in the city this year from contagious or infectious disease, or from summer complaints. This is a record the city may feel justly proud of, and we doubt if it can be equalled in Canada.

A review of the deaths in the Red Deer district, so far as officially recorded through H. G. Stone, undertaker, may also be of interest to our readers, covering a period of twelve years. In 1902 there were 17 deaths, in 1903, 19 deaths; in 1904, 31; in 1905, 41; in 1906, 49; in 1907, 41; in 1908, 42; in 1910, 66; in 1911, 53; in 1912, 76; and so far this year only 32. Typhoid fever seems to be almost a thing of the past, and a great number of the deaths recorded are from accidents and old age.

CANADA'S NAVAL RESOURCES IN TIME OF WAR MUST BE USED AS PART OF BRITISH FLEET UNDER ONE CENTRAL.

"In time of peace the disposition of a Canadian navy would be comparatively unimportant. In time of war it would necessarily become an integral part of the common defence of defence. It is inconceivable that under such circumstances there could be any kind of dualistic control. Unless public feeling suffered vast change, all of Canada's naval resources would be put at the disposal of Great Britain, and from a single center would go the commands leading to effective defence. The Liberal arguments are largely superficial, and lacking in any real appeal to the sober sense of Canada."—Ottawa Citizen (Free Trade Independent).

The new Democratic tariff gives to Canada all the advantages promised from the reciprocity agreement, without making Canada an adjunct of the United States.

If the last session of the House was a bad one for the Liberal party with the seatless ex-Ministers out of Parliament, what would it have been if they had been in? Certain.

The rumored activity of the seatless ex-Minister of the Laurier Old Boys' Association, must be very disquieting to those Liberals who would like to see the party get on its legs again.

What's that, the Liberal party saying? Quite so. They're cutting up the planks of that old platform of '93. These planks have been giving them a lot of trouble in the last few years.

The Borden Government is building interior terminal elevators. This business of keeping promises while elections are a long way off is enough to deprive the Government of the respect of their predecessors.

When the dreadnought New Zealand, built by the Dominion of New Zealand in Great Britain, visits Nova Scotia in November, Liberals of that part of Canada will be able to compare it with the Niobe.

It would seem that the rays of the Sunny Smile are not so strong as they once were. Here's Laurier going all the way down to Chateaugay to settle the big row among the Liberals of that riding. Mahomed is kept busy these days trotting around from one mountain to another.

Soaring revenues, bumper crops, general prosperity in the face of a world-wide money stringency, are very discouraging to people who used to be taught that the Laurier Government made the sunshine and personally looked after the welfare of the crops.

Premier Borden's congratulatory message to the commander of the New Zealand Dreadnought, is just the sort of message that Governments of other countries cannot send to commanders of Canadian Dreadnoughts. Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his band of Senate partisans attended to that.

The Trent Canal is to be rushed to completion by the Borden Government, minus that historic tributary, the Aylesworth ditch, otherwise known as the Newmarket Canal. When the Laurier Government went out of office, important public works such as the Trent canal ceased to be purely political propositions and became business realities. There's a reason.

A Calgary paper tells us there are some 8,000 bacilli to the cubic centimetre of the water of that city. They are claimed, however, to be harmless, but one can never tell. The Albertan editor may have drunk the water, but he so, not the water by mistake. It is an awful thought, but how else can one explain the paper's attitude on the Mewata park question?

EXHIBITION A GREAT SUCCESS

Tremendous Crowds—Enthusiastic Citizens—Unlimited Exhibits—Glorious Weather

ALL RECORDS BROKEN

Nature and the elements conspired to make the Central Alberta Exhibition the greatest fair ever held between Calgary and Edmonton, and throughout the entire three days the weather was all that could be desired. Bigger crowds, better exhibits—a record fair in every way—has shown that Red Deer is the logical place for what bids fair in time to be the leading exhibition of the province. In three years we have developed from an insignificant country fair to a splendid up-to-date exhibition, taking easily third place in this great province. Everybody was highly gratified at the pronounced success.

On Wednesday afternoon, C. E. Lewis, Superintendent of Fairs and Institutions of Alberta, and his staff, opened the Fair, assisted by E. Michener, M.P.P., and Mayor Galbraith, and others.

Mayor Galbraith cordially welcomed the people, congratulating W. E. Lord and the Directors on the result of their hard work, and spoke of the Fair as being one of the most important of the central services given by Red Deer to its district. He did not intend, or did he wish to take up much time, there being others present who had to speak, and each one had his time limited.

Mr. Michener, in congratulating the Exhibition Society, said that, the exhibits last year were far in advance of any previous year, and that the Exhibition Board were deserving of support which they got from the City Council, who set to work and erected the splendid buildings for horses, cattle and other stock, and a splendid grandstand, all of which were a credit to the Association, and the city as well. Previous years' exhibits had represented more the class of stock that distinguished the Red Deer district, but this year the exhibits were far more varied, and cosmopolitan in that they are from far and near. Exhibits were here from a number of provinces in the Dominion, and doubt this year due to the broader plans of the Exhibition Board in trying to make the fair more than a local one. He thought the citizens of Red Deer and district appreciated the fact of the Board having placed the Central Alberta Exhibition on the circuit of the larger exhibitions; and he hoped the Council would continue to show their appreciation by adding increased accommodation, year by year, for the visitors as well as the exhibits. Central Alberta is a central farming district. Of the different branches of mixed farming one of the most profitable, as well as the most suited to the climatic conditions, was dairying. The cool air and good water combine to make it possible to handle dairy products in the least expensive and most satisfactory way. This part of Central Alberta is noted for its good dairy herds. Every man that is building up a good dairy herd is not only helping himself on the road to prosperity, but is adding greatly to the prosperity and development of the country. Just to indicate the possibilities of this one branch of mixed farming, as this is all I can touch upon today, not that other branches or other breeds of cattle are not profitable, but I am limited to five minutes. I want to use these few moments in showing what immense possibilities and wealth lie in only one of the many branches of mixed farming. Say, for example, we take a small area, adjacent to Red Deer, of 40 miles square. This would give us 1,600 square miles, or 6,400 quarter sections of land. If we suppose we had dairy herds in this area to the extent of an average of only 16 cows to the quarter section. We could have 64,000 cows. We will estimate every cow to make from dairy products $50 per annum (any cow that will not do that is not worth keeping as a dairy cow). That would make a revenue of $3,200,000. Add to that the value of the year's crop of calves, and we have a total income in this small area in one year of at least $1,000,000 lost from dairying alone. I will desist from elaborating any further upon the possibilities of dairying lest the town people who are here will depopulate the town to go dairying, which would probably be the best thing for the country. The towns cannot prosper as they should until the lands are occupied and the livestock vegetation of grasses and grains is turned into products of the farm.

Mr. President, my time is up. I thank you for the opportunity of saying a few words. I think the exhibition of 1913 will be successful in every way, and each succeeding year will surpass the previous one until the Central Alberta Fair at Red Deer becomes the exhibition of the Province of Alberta.

Mr. C. E. Lewis, superintendent of Fairs and Institutions for Alberta, on being called upon, said it gave him great pleasure to be there that afternoon at the opening of the Red Deer Exhibition. He wished to compliment the President and Directors of the Red Deer Agricultural Society on the fine showing of livestock. One thing that particularly pleased him was that they had a strictly agricultural show. The attention of the people is not taken up too much by Midway attractions and the judging things were crowded by spectators who were very much interested in the decisions handed out by the judges. The main object of a fair should be education to the stockman and spectators, and he thought he could safely say that the management of this Fair had kept this in view. The improvement that had been made in the past year was marvellous. He had no idea that he would see such a large and fine showing in live stock. The Horticultural Society show was also excellent.

Red Deer was situated in one of the best districts of the province, and they were fortunate in having farmers that had devoted their attention to mixed farming rather than exclusive grain growing, which had not proven to be very successful in comparison with mixed farming in the Province of Alberta. The stockbreeder was away in advance of the exclusive grain grower. It took more intelligence to breed and raise prize stock than to grow grain. The citizens of Red Deer, he could see, were behind this fair and were supporting it financially and otherwise. The farmers had demonstrated that they were not lacking in interest by the number of entries they had made. A good exhibition was one of the best means of advertising their town and district. He knew that visitors would go away from this fair with a good opinion of Red Deer and the surrounding country.

He would just like to ask the members of the Red Deer Agricultural Society, when electing their officers next December, not to allow their President, Mr. Lord, to get out of the harness, but, if possible, make him accept the office of President next year. Elect him and his secretary and directors. They had done wonders for this fair and he knew they would do even greater things. They had made this fair easily the third fair in the province. He did not purpose to take any more of their time as he knew they were anxious to get over to the judging rings. He assured them as an official of the department he would do all in his power to assist the management of the Red Deer Fair. He took great pleasure in declaring the Red Deer Fair officially open.

EXHIBITION BUILDING. The exhibition building was well patronized, it being filled with local exhibits. Opposite the front entrance doors the Laurentia Milk Co. had a clean looking exhibit of milk, butter and cheese, all of local manufacture. The attendant gave out samples of milk to those desirous of having them. To the left the corner space was used for a collection of grains, grasses and seed grain. The grasses had been carefully arranged round the walls and showed good taste. The collection, while not large, was a good one.

The Freytag Co.'s exhibit of robes, furs, rugs and skins was a very creditable one. On examination they were all found to be good workmanship, soft and pliable, and it says a whole lot for Red Deer that it has a factory of this description, run by a firm that can take its furs, skins, etc., and manufacture them into useful articles just as well as any firm in the Dominion. The Freytag Company are to be commended for their display.

The display of the Western General Co. was very pleasing to the eye. They had on view a large number of fittings for lights with fancy globes. All these were lighted at night, and attracted lots of attention. In addition, a washing outfit, cooking stove, clothes iron and other devices, all worked by electricity, were on view, and their use illustrated by mechanics in attendance.

The show of oil paintings, water colors and drawings was very good, but not numerous. The ladies' work section took up a large space, and was better than usual. The judges had a lot to do in this class, as the entries in embroidery, needlework, knitting, hemstitching, crochet work and burnt wood were well represented. In fact, it was a splendid display, and was a great attraction to the visitors in this building.

The domestic class section was another exhibit that took up a lot of space. Such a splendid collection of bread, cakes and confectionery has never been seen before in this city. They would hold their own in any company. The judges of this class had a very hard row to hoe, at least ninety per cent. of the exhibits being first class goods. This no doubt was owing to the fact of so many of the local tradesmen giving special prizes for the best bread made from certain flours.

The Piper Block Co. had an exhibit of their brick in the form of an erected fire place, the work being done by Walter Webb of North Red Deer.

Another exhibit which called forth a lot of praise was that of the Great West Lumber Co. and Huch Baird saw and planing factory. A good sized space had been divided into two, the one part forming the office, and the other having on view a miniature saw mill and such fancy things that particularly pleased the smile of the one in North Red Deer, and showed the logs being taken from the water, up the gangway to the saw, and so on through the mill,

HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY'S EXHIBITION AT THE FAIR

Splendid Enthusiasm Shown by Members

The splendid showing of the Horticultural Society bears out the contention made that it would be well to have the Exhibition and Horticultural Society work together.

The Horticultural building was the centre of attraction, and the officers, President Coote, Secretary E. Wilton and the directors are to be congratulated on the splendid showing.

The display in the Horticultural building of cut flowers, flowering plants, ferns, grasses, vegetables, etc., was, to a large percentage of the visitors, both a pleasure and a surprise. It speaks well for the work of the Society to be able to gather round them such a splendid exhibit.

The display was not only of the highest quality, but very numerous as well, the centre, sides and walls all being filled with exhibits; and it was perhaps considered the best department of the fair, showing without doubt what Red Deer citizens are capable of doing if you can only get them interested. The fine arrangement and grouping of the flowers had a lot to do with the pleasing effect, and for this great credit is due to Mr. Edward Wilton, who was responsible for it, and who has had great success in similar functions in the Old Country.

The vegetables, of which there was a fine array, were very good indeed, there being keen competition. Special mention might be made of a collection of native wild grasses (pressed), which adorned the wall at the end of the building, and had been gathered by Miss Allen, daughter of A. W. G. Allen, and the splendid collection of vegetables shown by A. B. Nash, he having thirty-seven different varieties in the group that took first prize. Mr. W. R. Reeder, of Calgary, was the judge, and he had the fine number of 500 entries from which to choose the prize winners. The judge complimented the citizens generally on the improvement of their lawns and gardens over last year. He said it was remarkable the amount of produce the citizens get out of their gardens in this district. The most notable prize winner was John Reid, who took the Michener trophy for the greatest number of first prizes, 21 in all. Next to him came Joseph Cole with 18 firsts, and W. A. Moore with 15. W. T. Coote, President of the Society, ran John Reid a close second for grounds and gardens. The beauty, variety and excellence of this show will not be forgotten in a hurry, and the Horticultural Society can prepare themselves for the exhibit being doubled next year. Nothing succeeds like success.

An unfortunate misunderstanding took place, and the following explanation of the same is made by the Secretary of the Society: "In the 'Garden Competition' of the Horticultural Society there was in one case an unfortunate misunderstanding as to the interpretation of the words 'Employing Assistance' and 'Employing No Assistance' whatever, marking the difference between classes 1 and 2, and one competitor withdrew his entries because the committee, after consulting the judges as to the price at Calgary, could not see their way to accept entries in both classes from the same exhibitor. Possibly it will be found desirable to more clearly define the conditions of entries in this respect another season, but the matter requires delicate handling, because many garden lovers who are not able to afford to hire help would certainly kick at having to compete on equal terms with wealthier townsmen."

CHILDREN'S EXHIBITS. The children's exhibits in flowers and vegetables was a fine one. It is very pleasing to see children interested in practically all things, but cultivation in nature's beautiful gifts is one of the things that must give every enjoyment to them personally, as well as beautifying their homes. This is a department that the society should take up strongly. It might also be a good thing to get the teachers have a wonderful influence with the children in all things. The following is a list of the prize winners:

What might have been a serious accident happened at Sylvan Lake on Sunday last, when a party of boys and girls, numbering eleven in all, were taking a trip across the Lake in R. Jones' motor launch.

Chorus of Quack shooters on Saturday! Bing! Bang! Dead! Bing! Bang! Missed! Principally the latter. One prominent sportsman came in with a mournful face, complaining that ducks couldn't be bought for less than fifty cents a piece; another that his dog wouldn't chase anything but prairie chickens; another that he strained his gun trying to shoot too far and nearly hit his new hunting suit didn't match the color of the grass, and so on. Altogether, it was a bedraggled looking bunch that arrived back in town at night.
